

SUDDENLY OVERGROWN with drooping glass trees, the campus glittered with silver danger last weekend. By the time the ice melted, the ground was strewn with large broken branches. A tornado-like destruction had been cloaked in ice.

W'burgers To Complete Study Sheet

Students will fill out an opinionnaire in convocation next Tuesday. The sheet was prepared by the Wartburg Project Committee.

This committee is conducting "A Comprehensive Study of the Wartburg Student," and the purpose of the opinionnaire is to obtain information about the student's background, interests and extracurricular activities.

STUDENTS WILL place their student number on the sheets instead of their names. Using the numbers will prevent viewing the information in relation to a particular student.

The opinionnaire was approved by Dr. Howard V. Evans, a coordinator of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, while he was on campus last Wednesday.

DR. EVANS also met with the project committee members and student groups composed of students representing the different classes and curricula. He spoke to the faculty on "College Testing Programs and Use of Test Results" in the evening.

This study of the Wartburg student is being made in conjunction with a larger study, which will analyze the objectives of Wartburg College.

Faculty Members Scheduled To Give Two Lectures During Upcoming Week

Two faculty members will give lectures this week.

Dr. Gerhard Ottersberg, History Department, will lecture on historian Arnold Toynbee's future projections for Western civilization Monday night.

Sponsored by the Academic Life Committee, the lecture is an outgrowth of a recent series of three convocations about Toynbee by Dr. Ottersberg. It will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Fuchs Lounge.

A question period will follow Dr. Ottersberg's presentation.

Two Coeds Step Into Campus Limelight As Best-Dressed Girl, Fortress Queen

By Elaine Melchert

Honors were bestowed on two Wartburg coeds last week as the Best-Dressed Girl on campus was selected and the 1961 Fortress queen crowned.

Freshman Lois Remmers was named Wartburg's Best-Dressed Girl at a program last Saturday night. During the half-time of the Wartburg-Upper Iowa basketball game Tuesday evening, senior Andrea Richardson was crowned 1961 Fortress queen.

Brown-haired, brown-eyed, 5'6" Lois Remmers is a music major from Auburn, Neb. She is one of the four daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Remmers.

Clothes play an important part in Lois' campus life. Though her mother makes many of her clothes, Lois likes to shop for some, too. Doing a lot of her shopping in Omaha, Neb., the bulk of her purchases seems to be sweaters.

Lois favors fussy blouses and likes wool skirts and cardigans. Blends of brown and green are favored colors and red may be added to the list.

"I plan my wardrobe so the clothes can be mixed and matched easily to allow several variations," commented Lois.

Future plans for Lois are centered around music. After graduation she would like to teach high school chorus music.

As Wartburg's winner, three pictures of Lois will be submitted to Glamour Magazine as an entry in the 10 Best-Dressed College Girls in America contest sponsored annually by the magazine. The national judging will be by a panel of Glamour Magazine editors.

Lois was selected Saturday night by a popular vote of the audience at a program in which the 10 Wartburg finalists modeled an on-campus outfit, a daytime off-campus outfit and a party dress. The Wartburg Trumpet sponsored the campus contest.

Dot Carstensen, sophomore, was chosen as first runner-up for the contest, and junior Diane Daggett was selected as second runner-up.

Queen Andrea Richardson from Milroy, Minn., was "surprised and thrilled" to become the 1961 Fortress queen, she said.

Royalty is not new to Andrea, as she was a member of the Winter Sports Queen court last year and this fall served on the Homecoming court. In 1958, as a senior in high school, Andrea was a candidate for Miss Minnesota.

An English major, 5' 2", blue-eyed, dark-haired Andrea is enrolled in the secondary education course. After graduation Andrea plans to teach in or around Dubuque. Also included in her future plans is an August wedding to her fiancé, senior Bruce Bergquist.

Andrea loves to sew and makes most of her clothes. Music and spectator sports are other interests and pastimes.

Activities for Andrea include currently being treasurer of the Student Education Association, Wartburg Choir and working at the library. Being a member of Who's Who this year is another of her honors.

Fortress staff members elected Andrea to be this year's queen by secret ballot. Few people knew who was to be presented as queen before she was actually announced.

"The complete surprise makes it so much more fun," said Andrea.

Having previously arranged the evening with Bruce, Andrea attended the game, unsuspecting the half-time activities. She ordinarily works on Tuesday evenings, but Bruce arranged a way to get that changed too.

"I really appreciate the honor, and it certainly was unexpected and thrilling to receive," commented Queen Andrea.

Andrea will represent Wartburg at the Drake Relays Queen Contest at Des Moines sometime in April.

These two coeds bubbled with excitement as each received her honors. Not all weeks are filled with surprise and happiness as this one was for Lois and Andrea.

LOIS REMMERS was named Wartburg's Best-Dressed Girl last Saturday night.

Trumpet Ties For Second

The Trumpet ended in a second-place tie in the non-daily division of the safe-driving contest sponsored by Lumbermens Mutual Casualty Company preceeding the Christmas holidays.

A telegram of congratulations was received last weekend from the sponsoring company.

The award will net the Trumpet $175 in prize money. The money will be used for complimentary tickets to the annual Press Banquet for Trumpet staffers, and the remainder will go for helping the Trumpet to a safer financial footing, according to Editor Linda Mugridge.

Last year the Trumpet also placed second. In 1954 the paper ended in a tie for third place.

The contest was originated in 1948 by Lumbermens, a division of the Kemper Insurance group.

Spotlight On You

Tall people, short people, happy people, sad people, in-between people — an infinitely varied, shifting mosaic bound by the frame that is Wartburg College.

Watch them scurry over the campus. Are they happy here? Are they getting what they expected when they enrolled? Why did they come here in the first place? What kind of people are they?

Good questions, all of them.

The answers will be found out at Tuesday's convocation. At that time, an opinionnaire, extremely comprehensive in scope, will be filled out by the Wartburg student body.

The questions go something like this:

How often, on the average, did you attend social functions during the last year?

What is the last unassigned book you read?

What are the two most important reasons for your decision to come to this college?

What is your conception of life after death or eternity?

This questionnaire is a major part of "A Comprehensive Study of the Wartburg Student" currently being conducted by a project committee. The answers will be used to better clarify the relationship between the student body and the objectives of Wartburg College.

Since this study will in the end benefit the students, cooperation in honestly filling out the questionnaire is a good investment.

As nearly as statistics are able, this study is aimed at analyzing the pieces in the mosaic so that they may be fitted together in a better pattern.

Loose, Flapping Jaw

Let's complain! Let's run down everything we can think of!

No, don't let that bother you. Why bother to find out the background of the situation? Why try to find out the facts? They're just excuses for not suiting us anyway.

The only thing we have to know is that we don't like what's being done. Let's complain!

Oh, come on! What you just said about people thinking we're stupid — that's just a bunch of hogwash. A little complaining never hurt anyone, and I don't —

You say it does hurt people sometimes? Well, if that's so — and I don't believe it is — that's what they get for not suiting us.

What? You say complaining shows that we're swell-headed, that we think we're experts in running the world? Well, I don't know where you get such a cockeyed idea! I certainly would never want to run anything. I leave that to the glory-hounds.

Oh, come on. Complain! There are oodles of things that need correction.

WHAT?

What an oddball that guy is! He actually wants to understand the situations before he says anything.

If George Washington were alive today, he would turn over in his grave.

Last Friday night was a bad night for Wartburg. The weather broke the branches from the trees and Parsons broke the Knights' hopes for the conference title.

Any onlooker might have thought a headache plague had struck Wartburgers early this week, judging from the way they held their heads every time something cracked above them.

Man can conquer rivers, but he can't seem to do much about the streams that flow past Luther Hall.

Wartburg students know their geometry. Ask a campus-cutter what he is doing, and he will explain that the shortest distance between two points is a straight line, sidewalk or not.

Oppie has a wide assortment of magazines in his waiting room. Dentists have them, too.

Wanted, one large portable magnet with enough power to open the north door of the chapel-auditorium from the outside.

Statement by a professor who accidentally let go of a wall map, letting it slam shut: "The world is really going places these days."

Rumor has it that Officer Shinn is going to be stationed in Fuchs Lounge to stop the fraternization. Maybe his shiny badge will provide enough light to discourage the couples.

AS CONGO CRISIS THICKENS,

Kennedy Must Prove Mettle

By Bill Goetz

The new administration in Washington, headed by President John Kennedy, faces a severe test of its abilities in coming months as it deals with critical problems both at home and abroad.

The crisis in the Congo, intensified by the unexpected slaying of Premier Patrice Lumumba, calls for firm and immediate action together with the most skillful diplomacy.

THIS PAST WEEK there have been definite indications that President Kennedy, Secretary of State Rusk, U. N. Ambassador Stevenson and their subordinates are successfully dealing with the situation.

The United Nations has been the scene of a great deal of vital international maneuvering during the Congo crisis. The Soviet Union views the U.N. as a propaganda forum and wishes to prevent the initiation or any action which will oppose its own plans for exploiting the Congo situation.

In an attempt to weaken the U.N., it has called for the removal of Secretary General Hammarskjold from his key position.

AMBASSADOR Stevenson, apparently somewhat more realistic now that he is directly involved in dealings with representatives of the Soviet Union, immediately recommended that President Kennedy take as firm a stand as possible in warning the Russians of the United States' refusal to allow unilateral action in the Congo.

President Kennedy in turn issued what the New York Times called "the strongest statement thus far on U.S. Congo policy" clearly indicating the possibility of U.S. armed resistance if the U.S.S.R. moves into the Congo.

Two alternative outcomes of the renewal of the Congo crisis are now apparent: either bloodshed and civil war or a gradual improvement of the political and economic situation. The present decisions of the U.S. government will greatly affect the outcome.

Briner

Daze 'n' Knights

No doubt the visit to our campus by the governor of our state is an event which should not go unrecorded. Governor Erbe's appearance was the second by an Iowa governor in less than a year. From the viewpoint of this admittedly prejudiced observer, the occasion was something less than memorable.

I must admit that I was relieved by the Governor's speech. Prior to last Friday, I had rather feared that Mr. Erbe would decide that something else was immoral and choose a church function as the proper place to announce it.

Happily, the Governor neither decreed that the "New Republic" is obscene and unsalable nor pronounced an edict which labeled Democrats as subversive.

Neither did he announce that all those who are not free, white Protestants would have their driving licenses suspended forthwith and without hearing. For these blessings, let us be grateful!

Furthermore, there is a great deal of suspicion that the Governor broke a record (of sorts) in his address. By actual count, he addressed the gathering as "folks" no less than nine times.

Starting with this figure, add to it the four times he said, "I believe in government." Next, add three statements that politicians are making great sacrifices to serve the people.

Finally, to this figure add two affirmations that politicians are basically good and two promises that the government "will be as good or as bad as YOU make it."

This adds up to a whopping total of 21 glaring cliches in one speech! If this isn't some sort of record, then I'll eat my Democratic hat.

Far be it from me to question the truth of any or all of these statements. The point is that in every case the audience was told exactly what it wanted to hear. The Governor dutifully praised our local representatives in state government. Then he voiced every belief that, with good people like these in Des Moines, we would have a satisfactory reapportionment bill out of this session of the legislature.

(Those who think that the present Schaff plan merits the label "satisfactory" would be well advised to read the perceptive remarks of Senator Gilmore on the question.)

The topper was a long list of heinous deeds done during the Truman administration and on some Democrat-controlled states. This, quoth he, would seem to have nothing to do with Iowa. I have a lingering suspicion that such remarks fail to do justice to Chet Akers' flower fund.

The upshot of all this is not to deny Governor Erbe his political philosophy. If he chooses to be a conservative, let him take a strong, honest conservative stand. However, if he continues to assume that Iowans are a corn-pone and hominy audience, then I, for one, hope that his career is short and happy, especially short.

RIDDLE OF THE WEEK

In last week's column, something was said about the arrogance of the majority. One convention speaker last week made a statement similar to this: "Consider our advantages. We're not only white, we're Lutheran! Of course, this is not to say that white people are necessarily better, but we do take a certain pride in the color of our skin." Shades of the Pharisees!

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

'Support Organizations,' Says Student

To the Editor:

"If you have anything to offer the world, the world will accept you."

This was a statement made by the Rev. M. F. Johnson, when he addressed a joint meeting of the Young Democrats and Young Republicans Feb. 16.

PASTOR JOHNSON, historian for the Waterloo chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, emphasized the need to understand each other on an individual basis. He said racial prejudice and prejudice of all kinds is dissolved when one individual meets a different individual on equal ground.

"Our responsibility lies in 'reconciliation and reason.' We must 'work at it,' try to get along."

Nothing ever came without effort; we must meet and match each others' faults halfway. This "reasoning" is evident because integration on the higher intellectual level is not as great a problem as it is among the greater number of poorly educated Southern Negroes.

THE BLAME cannot be placed on either race—the situation is the fault of both. The radical Southern whites stir up plenty of emotion and antipathy, to be sure, but the Negro doesn't always simply accept this without promoting further antagonism.

However, Pastor Johnson applauded the non-violent lunch counter "sit-ins" as a method for the Southern Negro to express himself in a forceful but peaceful way.

"To hold a man down, you must be down there with him."

These words of Pastor Johnson have a great amount of truth for all of us.

Although this meeting at which Pastor Johnson spoke was open to the public, only a very few of the club members attended. If this is a sample of the students' unenthusiastic support of their own organizations, and it seems to be, then all programming committees, guest speakers, promotion, enthusiasm and effort is vanity.

Let's support our campus organization! Again in the words of Pastor Johnson as he applied them to integration and as we may apply them to our lives, "We must face up, work at it, practice it."

Knights Fight Norse Tonight

By Paul Baumgarten

Knights again battle arch rival Luther in what could be a contest for sole possession of second place in the conference race tonight.

In a previous encounter the Norsemen got the short end of a 76-70 score. Since then they have also been defeated by Parsons and, as a result, stand 11-4 in the conference, one-half game behind the Knights and in third place.

THE KNIGHTS DEFEATED the Upper Iowa Peacocks in a thriller by a 91-88 score last Tuesday. Wartburg again ran into a second half whirlwind that cost the Knights a 9-point halftime lead and almost the ball game.

The first half showed nothing unusual except a bit larger score than ordinary. Dar Oehlerich and Don Hein led the scoring trail for the Knights with 11 and 12 points respectively as the Axmen posted a 47-38 margin.

Leading the pace for the Peacocks was a good freshman, Don Dutton, who had 17.

IN THE SECOND half this good freshman suddenly turned sensational and led his team on a scoring spree that put the shocked Knights five points behind.

During this period Upper Iowa was shooting at a cool 70 per cent from the floor.

Also helping their cause was William Prochaska, a freshman guard who had only one bucket in the first half but suddenly developed a deadly jump shot from the side.

The Knights now put on a display of teamwork which slowly turned the tide of battle. However, it wasn't until the last minute of the game that Oehlerich scored the vital bucket to put Wartburg into the lead.

HERE POETIC JUSTICE seemed to take over as the Peacocks brought the ball down the court and gave it to Dutton, who had not missed from the floor during the entire half.

He shot, and the ball went wide to the left. Don Hein grabbed the rebound and threw to Dave Jensen, who was then fouled. With only a few seconds remaining, Jensen sank his two shots giving Wartburg a three-point lead, thereby putting the game on ice.

In the game's scoring, Dutton led with 38. He was followed for the Peacocks by Prochaska with 17, Meyer with 11 and Hill with 10.

For the Knights, Don Hein led with 23, followed by Dar Oehlerich with 19, Dave Jensen with 14, Marv Ott with 12 and Dave Brunscheen with 10.

Tuesday evening the Knights take on the Spartans of Dubuque, who stand eighth in the Conference at this point in the championship scramble.

Led by their fine guard Dick Yapp, they have posted a 5-10 record thus far. In a previous encounter between the two teams, just before Christmas, Wartburg emerged with an easy victory.

Matmen Try To Top .500 For Season

Knight wrestlers battle here this afternoon to get over the .500 mark for the year in the last meet of the season before the Conference tournament.

St. Cloud State will form the opposition and could make it difficult for the Jomen to better their 5-5 record. Last year the Knights posted a 4-6-1 season record but tied for the conference championship with Upper Iowa.

THE CONFERENCE meet will be held next Friday and Saturday in Knights Gymnasium. The weigh-in and pairings will be made Friday afternoon with the matches through the semifinals beginning at 7:30 p.m. The consolation and championship finals start at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

As to Wartburg's chances for a repeat crown, Coach Norm Johansen says, "We lost too many wrestlers We have an outside chance. We're not giving up, by any means."

LAST WEEK THE Jomen fell before two conference foes, losing to Luther 21-10 and to Upper Iowa 23-9. Roger Hildebrandt, last year's conference champion at 167 pounds, kept his victory string unmarred as he came through with decisions in both matches.

Senior John Sternberg, who last year won conference laurels at 123 pounds, held Luther's Chuck Liston, conference winner at 130 pounds, to a draw in their dual and won by decision in the Upper Iowa meet.

Sophomore Bill Smith was also a double winner as he pinned one man and decided another in the 137-pound division.

CHALK TALK

By Tom Kuckkahn

Wartburg has in head basketball coach Dr. Axel Bundgaard one of the most colorful personalities in Iowa basketball.

Much has been said of his volatile actions, some of it exaggerated, some derogatory, but most of it with tones of admiration and enjoyment. Many fans derive as much enjoyment from looking at Ax's antics as they do from witnessing the game.

I looked at Ax during the Wartburg-Upper Iowa game Tuesday evening, and following is an abbreviated account of what I saw:

Time Remaining

20:00 — Game begins. Sitting calmly on the bench.

16:40 — Falls back into the next row of seats as the Knights throw the ball away.

16:11 — Jumps up suddenly, stamps feet and calls for a reserve as he becomes unsatisfied with the play of one of his starters.

16:06 — Head buried in hands.

15:20 — Angrily talks to players on each side of him as UIU goes ahead, 8-6.

14:50 — Claps hands — yells at referee.

14:21 — Stomps feet dejectedly as the ball is stolen.

13:18 — Leaps up, stomps on floor, points and yells at ref., who at the time appeared to be giving the game to UIU.

12:31 — Falls back and lifts feet into air as Wartburg player is called for traveling.

7:57 — Jumps up violently, walks out onto court yelling at incoherent ref., requesting a time-out.

5:02 — Slams feet on floor, hands on bench and wrings the towel as UIU scores an easy basket.

3:10 — Waves arms agreeably as Knights run off a smooth play.

HALF — Wartburg 47, UIU 38

20:00 — Second half begins.

17:50 — Slouches back into the next row of seats as Knights miss an easy basket.

14:00 — Jumps up violently waving arms and shouting as UIU fast breaks to cut the Knights' lead to four points.

9:08 — Upper Iowa takes the lead.

8:25 — Gets up angrily, walks towards ref. swinging arms and yelling after a bad call.

1:14 — Wartburg behind by 1. Stands up and directs squad, with untranslatable waving hand motions, down the floor.

0:47 — Stands up and anxiously watches the closing minute as Knights win 91-88.

Yes, Coach Bundgaard is one of the most colorful coaches in Iowa. He's certainly not passive. He puts himself into the game and experiences the disappointments, mistakes and heroics of his men in contrast with the players on the floor, who seem to remain calm throughout.

IM Basketball Nears End

Cotta won the intramural National League basketball title and Off-Campus was thrown into a deadlock with Grossmann I and Basement in the American League race this week.

Cotta, undefeated National League champion, had its hands full in downing Clinton IIA, 54-44. Don Ringenberg, Cotta, and Orv McElfresh, Clinton II, scored 15 points apiece.

WAVERLY CAPTURED second place and gained a chance to play in the play-offs by nipping Married Men, 66-65, in an overtime. John Niemeyer's 17 points and Charlie Matthias' 15 led the way for the winners. Larry Collmann was high for the game with 25 counters.

Sparked by Bill Bombhoff's 30 points, Faculty easily defeated Grossmann IIIA, 62-40. This victory put Faculty in the first division.

CLINTON III EDGED previously unbeaten Off-Campus, 44-42. Charles Jensen scored 15 and Ted Kalkwarf 13 for the winners.

In a vital make-up game, Grossmann I and Basement beat North Hall A, 57-54, to edge into second place. Then with a 44-42 win over Grossmann IIIB, Grossmann I and Basement gained a share of the lead. Marlyn Sachs hit 21 for Grossmann III.

North Hall A suffered a serious setback at the hands of Clinton I and Basement, 59-53, in an overtime. Barry Greene of North Hall led all scorers with 29. Duane Huth fired in 20 for the winners.

New Student Guides Take Sample Tour

Members of Wartburg's new student guide service did an about-face and went on a tour this morning.

Admissions Director Fred Thompson and Admissions Counselor Bill Bomhoff directed the tour of the campus as an example of how the guides themselves will be working.

SPONSORED BY the Public Relations Committee of the Student Senate, the guide service is being organized to familiarize prospective students, their parents and other visitors with the college buildings, facilities and personnel.

To accomplish this, each guide will contribute one hour a week, remaining on call in the library during that time.

Visitors will be taken on a tour of the campus by the student on duty, with special attention being given to the area of any visitor's particular interest. When possible, prospective students will see a dormitory room.

Debate Influences Negative Move

At the debate held in convocation Tuesday, over half the reporting students shifted opinion toward the negative side, according to Robert Smith, debate coach.

The question debated was "Resolved, That the United States Government should adopt a program of compulsory health insurance for all its citizens."

A total of 254 students became more negative and 71 more affirmative while 144 did not change their opinions.

Linda Schalkhauser, Sharyn Purcell, Gary Bergamo, Nelson Meyer, Duane Schlitter, Ron Forsythe, Jerry Potter and Sylvia Luloff.

JOINERS' JIVE

Bjonerud

With only a few events scheduled for the coming week, we will all have more time to do important things like swimming in the dry run, playing dodge-em with tree branches and cleaning mud off our shoes.

I hope everyone will brave the elements tonight and come out and cheer for Wartburg as we meet Luther on the hard court at 7:30 p.m.

Attention, everyone: The annual Heart Fund Drive is being conducted tomorrow afternoon. If you can give a few hours of your time and help solicit, please meet in the foyer of the auditorium at 1:30 p.m.

"Have a heart and help the Heart Drive." Tomorrow night at 7 p.m. will find the P.E. minors and majors gathering for a Physical Education Club meeting. Be there!

At the same time, across campus, the Lutheran Student Association will meet for election of officers and an old-fashioned square dance. Sounds like fun and should be a good way to start the week.

Don't miss the Wartburg versus Dubuque game here on Tuesday night. We should have lots of school spirit for the last home conference game.

Guess the rest of the week is to be devoted to concentrated study or work on term papers. Good luck!

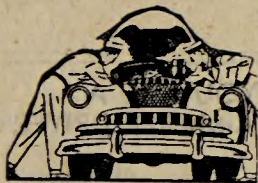

HS Clinic Cancelled By Music Department

The high school choral clinic scheduled at Wartburg last Saturday has been permanently cancelled.

According to Dr. James Fritschel, Music Department, no weekends are available for rescheduling the clinic. It was cancelled last week because of bad weather which prevented participating high schools from reaching Wartburg.
